Company Profile

'Remote Medical Care (RMC) is a specialist company that caters for our clients remote emergency and primary health care needs'

At RMC our aim is to provide a professional health care support service on a personal level.

If you are a company operating in remote locations and unconventional circumstances and are planning or involved in projects such as:

- seismic surveying
- exploration drilling
- engineering works
- general construction
- infrastructure installation
- setting up remote camps
- field trips for anticipated projects
- community support in the project area

Then RMC should be your first choice to provide your project staff with emergency and primary medical care as well as tailored occupational health and safety advice.

Services include remote clinic setup, evacuation planning, staffing, occupational health and safety advice and project community support.

Manager: Daniel Smith

Why RMC?

Because we are good at what we do and you as employer can not afford to be without quality health care services in a remote environment!

Our Medical Staff are experienced, reliable, resourceful and innovative and after years of experience in the industry we at RMC realize that these are attributes that are essential to any company operating in unconventional circumstances.

With more than 12 years experience, RMC staff has supported a multitude of projects in locations such as Tajikistan, Timor Leste, Mozambique, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and more recently Iraq.

RMC medical staff does not only confine themselves to the clinical aspect of healthcare but also general occupational health and safety advice (manual handling, fire preparedness, health and hygiene inspections) as well as preventative health care programs for project staff.

It has also become increasingly important for foreign companies operating in their host country to demonstrate a commitment to community support in the project area. 'Hearts and Minds' has become a bit of a cliché but its importance can not be underestimated. RMC fills this niche for companies by providing and implementing targeted solutions in terms of community support.
